

Professor Morten Fogt
LTCol Chief Legal Advisor,
NATO Multinational Division North (MNDN), Riga

Morten M. Fogt is associate professor of law (civil and international law) at Aarhus University, Denmark, where his main area of research and teaching is international trade law, comparative law, CISG and Private International Law. He has held positions and taught at several other universities, including the University of Kiel, Saarbrücken, Louvain, Vilnius, Riga and Tartu. In addition, he teaches the master course 'The Law of Armed Conflict and Military Operations' at Aarhus University, which course has both a legal and operational focus. He has worked as an army officer of the reserve since 1985 in various positions, including intelligence, current operations and planning at Battalion, Brigade, Division and Corps level. The last 15 years he has been Legal Advisor (LEGAD) in Danish Brigades, the NATO Multi National Corps North East, Stettin (PL) and Danish Division (DNK). He is Lieutenant Colonel of the Danish Army and currently Chief LEGAD in the NATO Multi National Division North (MND North), Riga.